

Icon when there are no other icons for other sections

Text color for title is different

Border or shadow is wrong.
Look at card above

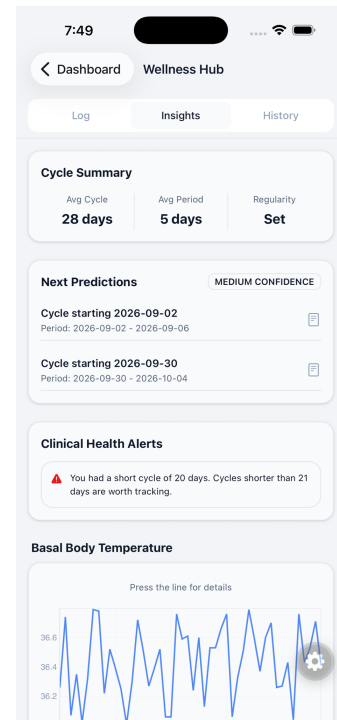

Maybe try the ring on the right side of the card?
For balance

this looks like the dashboard header but its not in the header a lot of wasted space due to having the date picker here inconsistent spacing between cards

These icons against a pale background of a lighter shade are in every vibe coded design

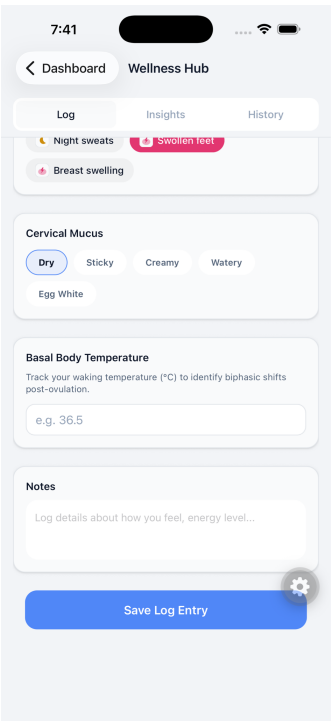

What is this paper symbol?
Looks like it should copy or navigate?

I'd avoid the words "Clinical Health" it means something specific to apple

When editing one of these prefs, they all reload from server
Causing a flash

What is condition tracking for?
What does it change in the app?
A description would help

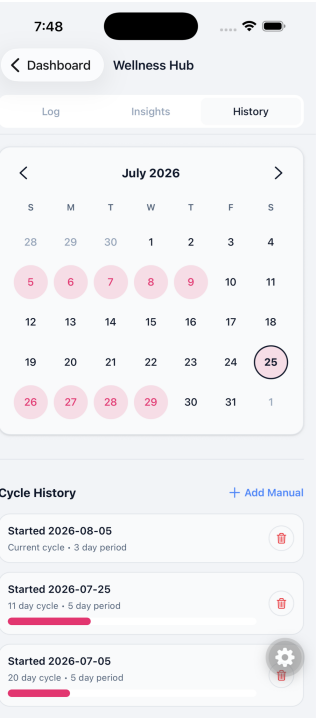

It says wellness here even though I have discreet off and language default

This should be a bottom sheet

Notes field doesnt highlight in blue when selected

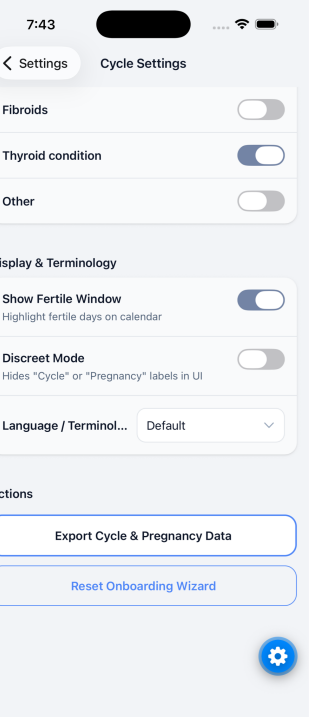

For placeholders, use example text

Save Log Entry button isn't full width

UX Problem: Tapping this calendar changes tabs which is disorienting. It shouldn't change the context of information not currently displayed. It also should be hidden behind the date (that should go in the header)

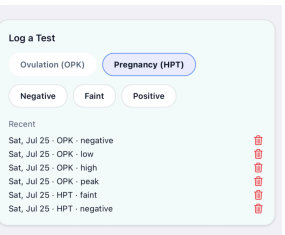

Don't put these on individual cards, it's a list

Drop terminology or language dont try to fit both

Actions in settings screens are rows with an chevron > not buttons like this

UX Problem:
The wellness hub is doing too much. It's trying to be an add screen and a list. The log (create) screen should be it's own modal. This will allow logging from other areas of the app. The other domains of the app do it this way.

These are chips but should be tabs
The buttons look like chips
Rows don't match app
Make tabular data easy to scan like a table
Also too crowded - needs padding
